VOL. I. NO. 10

CAYLEY, ALTA., MAY 25, 1910

SUBSCRIPTION $1.00 A YEAR

Can Now See Why

When the Legislature was in session the insurgents repeatedly tried to find out why several sections of the Railway Act of Alberta were struck out, so far as the A. & G. W. Railway were concerned. The full significance of these alterations and omissions may be better understood in the light of recent developments. The general clause requiring a deposit of ten per cent. of the subscribed capital was struck out and $50,000 accepted as a sufficient deposit. The evidence of Mr. J. D. McArthur in Winnipeg the other day disclosed the fact that Clarke had to borrow $5,000 from McArthur to run his preliminary surveys. It further showed that Clarke was depending upon the proceeds of the bonds to repay McArthur. The Kansas City capitalist, whose standing was so "satisfactory" to the Premier and his government, was sorely in need of special consideration. Even the $50,000 was, like the company itself, a myth.

Another clause which was struck out required that at least two directors must be resident in Alberta. What an advantage it would be at the present moment if this clause had been retained! If the directors resided in Alberta the Royal Commission might be able to get some information. We should not have to endure the humiliation of seeing the Commission poked fun at by one Minty, while a gentleman named Clarke holidays among the orange groves of the south.

Other sections of the Railway Act which were eliminated provided the machinery by which a railway may be expropriated by the province. Here, again, the very sections we most want are the ones that are missing.

Whose prophetic vision was it that discerned the evil day so clearly? The objectionable features of the Great Waterways contract were not accidental. They were deliberate on the part of some far-seeing manipulator.—Camrose Canadian.

Look Out for This Faker

The R.N.W.M. Police have been instructed to be on the look-out for a man going by the name of A. W. McNeil, who has been soliciting subscriptions for the "Canadian Magazine," and promising to give a write-up of the various towns he visits in this magazine. The "Canadian Magazine" publishers state that this man is a fraud and not in any way connected with them. The man is about 40 years of age, 5 feet 8½ inches high, weighs 160 lbs; dark complexion; dark hair streaked with grey; rather dissipated looking, and a heavy smoker. If this man calls on you give the police the tip at once.

Did you see Halley's comet? No! Well, you are not the only one who didn't get a glimpse of its tail. Guess most farmers were more interested in the fine shower of rain that was in progress while the comet was skating along to the west.

When planting trees, shrubs or garden seeds please remember that it is necessary, when wishing to make a success of any of these, that they should be varieties that are acclimatized. It is waste of time trying to do something that cannot be done and then cursing the country.

No wonder our neighbor Uncle Sam is alarmed at the movement of population northward. The immigrants from the United States who have crossed into Canada in two years carried with them between five and six hundred million dollars. And that is only the beginning of the movement. But our uncle need not be alarmed. There is no danger of the great American nation being brought to the verge of bankruptcy. It is producing wealth more rapidly than we can absorb it.

John Dunlop, Dominion Immigration Inspector at the port of Kingsgate, B.C., made a rush trip to Macleod last Sunday. He reports that the land hunger has taken hold of all classes of people in every state of the union across the boundary line. The number admitted at Kingsgate during the month of April were 997 males, 353 females, a total of one thousand three hundred and fifty. Nine were rejected as undesirable. Many of those who were admitted are farmers who have made good in the United States and possessing a goodly share of American dollars, are a choice addition to the population of western Canada.—Macleod Advertiser.

RELIGION AND CITIZENSHIP

We are coming to realize that an unworthy citizen cannot be a good christian. When a Nero is on the throne Christian co-operation with the powers that be is indeed difficult. But living as we do in a christian nation whose chief magistrates have almost without exception confessed the Christian faith, we must make for civic duty a large place in the christian life. Long enough has the inactivity of the best, meant the opportunity of the worst men. Long enough have Christian men without protest submitted to the irresponsible political dictator, who degrades men to the level of his purposes, but will not lift them to the level of their opportunities. The fine and delicate sense of honor which pervaded the ages of christian chivalry must come back to us and replace the "law honesty," whose only motive is fear of penal code. Our good people must be good for something. Our saints are not to be statues awaiting translation to some divine art gallery, but soldiers of the common good. The separation of church and state, which we all believe in, necessitates the closest possible union of citizenship with religious principles.

From "The Educational Ideal in the Ministry." By William H. P. Faunce.

All business was suspended in Cayley on Friday, 20th, in honor of the memory of our late King.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will tour the western provinces in July and August, accompanied by Hon. George P. Graham and probably Hon. W. S. Fielding.

Some editor who has time to burn has ground out the following on the letter "e." The fifth letter of the alphabet, "e," is the most unfortunate letter in the English alphabet, because it is ever in case, always in debt and never out of danger. We must not forget, though, that it is never in war and always in peace. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there is no meat, no bread, no gospel, no heaven and no hell.

WARNING

Any person or persons found driving, riding or leading horses across the town sidewalks where there is no crossing will be prosecuted.
